

Notice: Transfer Station Changes for Local Commercial Businesses

Dear Local Business Owners,

With construction of the Wahnapitae First Nation (WFN) Transfer Station underway, we would like to inform local commercial businesses of upcoming changes that will take effect once the new facility is in operation. Under the new policies associated with the transfer station, commercial businesses will no longer be permitted to dispose of waste at the landfill or transfer station. This applies to any business that is not band-owned. These businesses will be responsible for arranging disposal of their general waste and recycling.

WFN understands that this change may create challenges for some businesses. WFN is open to having a meeting and discussing potential disposal options or agreements and willing to assist by helping align businesses with third-party contractors as needed.

An additional notice will be sent as the completion of the transfer station approaches. In the meantime, if you have any questions or require additional information, please contact Cody Kramp at cody.kramp@wahnapitaefn.com.

Sincerely,
Cody Kramp
Waste Diversion Superintendent
Wahnapitae First Nation