Chief of Wahnapitae First Nation, Myles Tyson and MPP Rick Bartolucci, stand outside of a multi-purpose centre being built on the reserve. The province announced May 18, 2012 it is investing $1 million in the project through the Northern Ontario Heritage Fund Corporation.

Construction on the centre began last August with a completion date planned for this coming August. The opening is slated for Sept. 9, which is the anniversary of the signing of the Robinson Treaty of 1850. The First Nation, located east of Capreol, has 101 permanent residents and 450 members.

The $4-million single-storey building will not only serve as the hub for the community, it will also help create four new jobs. It will house a meeting hall, medical clinic, the community's Sustainable Development Department and a business incubator service. The province has announced it will invest $1 million for the project through the Northern Ontario Heritage Fund Corporation.

"This is a very exciting time for the people of Wahnapitae First Nation," Tyson said. "The Centre of Excellence will not only provide the staff of the band with a clean, warm place to work, but also give our residents a community centre we can all use and be proud of."

The centre will accommodate current and future needs of the First Nation and will be the gateway to the community, he said.

May 2012 Nutrition Bingo Update

There were 22 people in attendance at the monthly nutrition bingo on May 8, 2012.

Congratulations to Lyndsey Beaudreault, Leanne Williams and Tracey Hihnalna who each won a $25. gift certificate special. And to Tammy Giumond and Stephanie Beachamp who split the $100. gift certificate Jackpot.

We made enough money from the canteen sales and bingo sales to cover the expenses for the June 13, 2012 nutrition bingo.

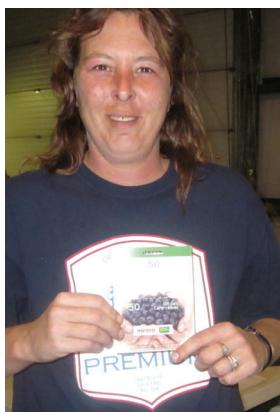

Come out and enjoy each other's company and win some healthy food for you and your family.

On June 13, 2012 the Pow Wow Coordinator, Crystal Osawamick will be in charge of the canteen. Come out and support this years Pow Wow fundraising initiative. 50/50 tickets and raffle tickets will also be available.

Canteen will open at 5 pm and the nutrition bingo will start at 5:30 pm.

Hope to see you there.

A Community That Cares

On Wednesday, May the 9th 2012, the Wahnapitae First Nation Health Department hosted a barbecue for participants of the Earth Day Clean up. Cheryl Recollet, the Environmental Coordinator supplied us with garbage bags, prizes. Ed & Paul picked up the garbage and brought to the dump.

We started at the end of Tahgwenini Trail Road and Portelance Road and made our way near the big culvert. Tyson Kratky said it was so sad to see all the garbage that people throw out and pollute Mother Earth. Evelyn picked up garbage on parts of Loon Way Road, as well as others who couldn't join us that evening.

Chi Miigwetch to Angie, Tyson, Dakota, Paul, Eddy, Evelyn and Seth for all your hard work.

A draw was made for the participants. Congratulations Joan Recollet who won the large garbage composter. To Dakota Recollet who won the counter top composter and to Paul Sr. who won a Wahnapitae First Nation duffle bag.

As Paul will honk and say, "GIVE A HOOT! DON'T POLLUTE!"

BARBEQUE FOOD SAFETY TIPS

Barbeque season has begun and Health Canada would like to remind Canadians of steps they can take to avoid foodborne illness caused by bacteria such as E.coli, Salmonella and Campylobacter.

Eating undercooked meat and other foods that have come into contact with raw meat can cause foodborne illness. Symptoms can include severe stomach cramps, vomiting, fever and diarrhea.

You can help lower your risk of foodborne illness by handling and cooking raw meat carefully.

STORING:

Raw meat should always be stored in a refrigerator or cooler at 4°C (40°F) or below.

If you are storing raw meat in a cooler, make sure that it is packed with ice and that it stays out of direct sunlight. Avoid opening too often.

Ensure meat products are well sealed so their juices don't come into contact with other food products, thus avoiding cross-contamination.

CLEAN:

Remember to wash your hands and other utensils, like cutting boards, countertops and knives, carefully with soap and warm water before and after handling raw meat. This helps avoid cross-contamination and prevent the spread of foodborne illness.

WHEN YOU GRILL:

FOOD	TEMPERATURE
Beef, veal and lamb (pieces and whole cuts)
Medium-rare	63°C (145°F)
Medium	71°C (160°F)
Well done	77°C (170°F)
Pork (pieces and whole cuts)	71°C (160°F)
Poultry (eg, chicken, turkey, duck)
Pieces	74°C (165°F)
Whole	85°C (185°F)
Ground meat and meat mixtures (eg, burgers, sausages, meatballs, meatloaf, casseroles)
Beef, veal, lamb and pork	71°C (160°F)
Poultry	74°C (165°F)
Egg dishes	74°C (165°F)
Others (eg, hot dogs, stuffing, left-overs)	74°C (165°F)

Colour alone is not a reliable indicator that meat is safe to eat. Meat can turn brown before all bacteria are killed. Use a digital food thermometer to be sure.

To check the temperature of meat that you are cooking on the barbecue, take it off the grill and insert a digital food thermometer through the thickest part of the meat.

If you are cooking a beef hamburger, take the patty from the grill and insert a digital food thermometer through its side, all the way to the middle.

If you are cooking more than one patty, or several pieces of meat, be sure to check the temperature of each piece.

Use clean utensils and plates when removing cooked meats from the grill.

Remember to wash the thermometer in hot, soapy water between temperature readings.

Always remember to keep hot food hot until it is ready to serve.

It is estimated that there are approximately 11 million cases of food-related illnesses in Canada every year. Many of these cases could be prevented by following proper food handling and preparation techniques. Public Inquiries: (613) 957-2991 or 1-866-225-0709

The Faculty of Law's Aboriginal Youth Summer Program

The Aboriginal Youth Summer Program (AYSP) is a new program offered by the U of T Faculty of Law for Aboriginal high school students who are interested in the study of law. Participating students will spend a week living on-campus at U of T and will explore a wide range of aspects of law and justice, and how they intertwine with the lives of Aboriginal Peoples. The Faculty is pleased to offer fully-subsidized spots to twenty Aboriginal youth in the summer of 2012.

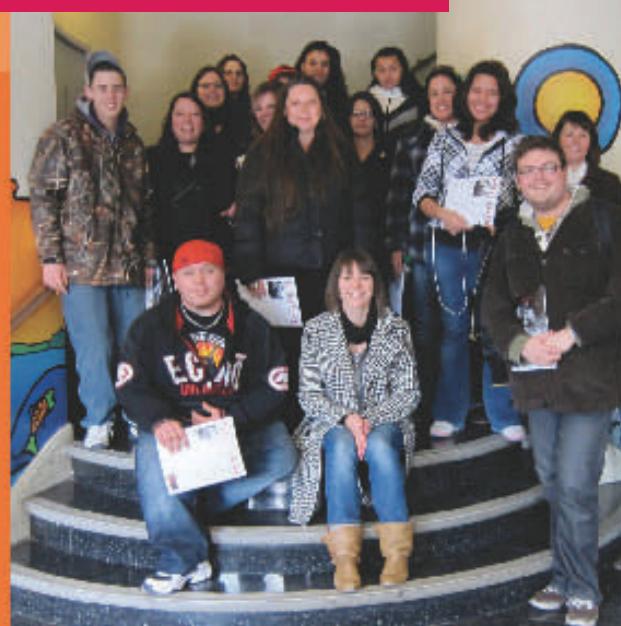

The Aboriginal Youth Summer Program (AYSP) invites Aboriginal students currently enrolled in grades 10, 11 and 12 to spend one week at the Faculty of Law discussing legal concepts, learning about the reality of the Canadian legal system, and applying their knowledge to a variety of stimulating environments. There will be a strong focus on the intersection of law and the lives and circumstances of Aboriginal Peoples.

For Aboriginal high school students interested in the law and legal issues that affect their communities, the AYSP offers an unprecedented opportunity to spend time in the fascinating world of Canadian and international law, legal thinking and advocacy. Taught by law students, professors, judges and lawyers, session topics may feature criminal justice, including sentencing and bail under Gladue court principles; property and Aboriginal title; constitutional law and the rights of Indigenous Peoples; international Aboriginal law; and intersections between Wampum and the common law. Students will observe these principles in action with field trips to such places as Toronto's Old City Hall Courthouse, Gladue Court, Aboriginal Legal Services Toronto, and Canada's premiere Aboriginal law firms.

In addition to the enriching academic content, students get a taste of university life, with classes held in law classrooms at the Faculty of Law, accommodation and meals at the University of Toronto's New College student dorms and participating in events - deadline is May 31, 2012.

During the AYSP you will:

- Gain exposure to post-secondary education and law school
- Learn from Aboriginal law students, professors, judges and lawyers
- Step into the shoes of a lawyer and immerse yourself in the practice of law
- Hone your debating and analytic skills, and start "thinking like a lawyer"
- Go behind the scenes at some of Canada's largest courts and most prestigious Aboriginal law firms
- Share ideas with other high school students from across Ontario
- Apply what you learn through immersive, realistic, and complex legal simulations
- Receive valuable academic enrichment and career guidance

Annual Student Achievement Awards

OFNTSC recognizes the time, dedication and sacrifice students have to make in order to achieve their goal of graduation from College or University in the fields of Science and Technology. We also recognize the importance of having First Nations' people achieving successful careers in Science and Technology and applying their expertise to working with our communities. Thus, each year we take the opportunity to honour the accomplishments of First Nations students who have persevered in attaining a high level of education in the field of Science and Technology.

This summer, for the seventh year in a row, OFNTSC will be joined by Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) in offering four Student Achievement Awards, a $1000 bursary each.

The recipients will be invited to the OFNTSC Annual Conference to take part in capacity building and training. The awards presentation will take place on the second day of the Annual Conference at the lunch gala.

We invite you to nominate a student from your community who is currently enrolled in the field of Science and Technology by mailing or faxing this form to the address below. From the nominations received, two students from Northern Ontario and two from Southern Ontario meeting the criteria will be selected. Only those persons selected will be contacted.

From the desk of the Education Support Worker

.....Greg Brown

Aannii, here is another installment of the seven teachings that I have been posting over the year. I am also including my duties again as still some parents are asking what the Education Support Worker does within the community.

Humility (Dbaadendiziwin,Dbaa-dendi-ziw)

The Ojibwe teaching of humility reminds us to reach out to others for assistance. This is a key tenet in our goal of ensuring that the Aboriginal learner has success. As educators, we need to go beyond ourselves and ask the "Aboriginal experts" key questions. It is crucial that we also go to Aboriginal organizations and communities for direction. This can be achieved by following these suggested strategies:

- Work with Aboriginal organizations to collect or purchase curriculum resources
- Conduct an inventory of Aboriginal curriculum resources
- Organize these curriculum resources into grade-specific categories
- Disseminate this information to all school boards in various formats

Humility is to know yourself as a sacred part of Creation. In the Anishinabek language, this word can also mean "compassion." You are equal to others, but you are not better. Some communities instead express this with Bekaadiziwin, which in addition to "humility" can also be translated as "calmness," "meekness," "gentility" or "patience."

Dibaademan mnik ge-waabandaweyin kiin ezhi-nishiyin, gegwa zaami-shpendizike, pane dibaadendizon

What does the Education Support Worker do in regards to Specific Responsibilities?

1. Support the work of the school's student success
2. Works directly with administration and staff in relations to the needs of the individual students
3. Serve a role model for the WFN youth
4. Works within the framework of the Niizhwaaswi G'mishomisinaanig our 7 Grandfather Teachings
5. Develop and maintain student list of all WFN students in the school and works toward developing rapport with the students
6. Promotes regular attendance and participation in school life.
7. Promotes credit accumulation, and preparation for the literacy test/course and graduation

8. Accept and investigate referrals of all students who have two or more non-excused absences and/or are at risk of losing a credit
9. Prepares for meetings between school personnel and parents/guardians to address school issues
10. Gage students success by tracking the progress of the individual students through the use of such measures as anecdotal reports, behaviour and academic tracking sheets, parent reports, lateness, suspensions, academic results, incident reports, parental involvement, ect
11. Facilitate contact with appropriate support services for youth and their families
12. Facilitate and follow students during transition from one grade school to another and from grade 8 to grade 9, and lastly if transferring between high schools.
13. Promote and facilitate improved understanding of FNMI (First Nation, Métis and Inuit) values, perspective, history and culture.

Besides these duties, the Education Support Worker has home visits, works with the students, families and teachers in order to help develop a plan of action that will help in achieving regular school attendance and credit accumulation and share with all relevant partners involved in the students' progress.

It's time to COMPOST!!!

Wahnipitae First Nation is proud to announce that we will begin the distribution of green carts and kitchen containers for composting. Community members will be asked to come to the band office and pick up their carts. Please come and see Cheryl or Christian anytime during office hours! We look forward to seeing all of you!!

Sustainable Development Department

Wahnapietae First Nation's Composting Guide

Composting doesn't just end at the curb...that's just the beginning.

Organics, food scraps and food soiled paper products are a RESOURCE...NOT A WASTE!

At one time, WFN did not have any composting initiatives, now that we do, we need to ensure we do it RIGHT. Thanks to the large interest of many community members during the 2012 Open House, all residents of Wahnapietae First Nation will be provided a green cart and kitchen collector in order to promote composting! However, it is up to us to follow some simple rules. One of the most important rules is to ensure that bio degradable bags are used. This allows our Waste Diversion Technicians (Paul and Ed) to simply add the compostable material to the organic composting pad situated at the landfill and not have to sort out the non degradable plastic bags.

Every time you place organic material in your green cart you accomplish at least three good deeds for the community:

1. You are diverting waste from our landfill and extending its life.
2. You are ensuring that biodegradable materials can be used and reused to their fullest.
3. You are helping to save energy!

Lots of people wonder about the benefits of composting. Here are a few examples:

1. It's free and renewable!
2. Improves and replenishes soils.
3. Protects ecosystems, enhances germination of trees and fuels plant growth.
4. It's environmentally friendly!

We have included a sticker that you can place on your garbage can to help you remember what goes in the green cart. In order to ensure that there are no contaminating materials in our composting pad, we will also be placing small stickers on your green cart when non compostable items are found during curbside collection. Households that exceed 3 stickers on their green cart will be provided a written notice and will be asked to meet with our Waste Diversion Technicians to clarify what can be composted.

WFN has hired two Waste Diversion Technicians to complete the curbside composting pickup on Tuesday and Thursday of every week. Community Members will also have the opportunity to personally drop off their composting during the landfills operating hours. The WFN Waste Diversion Technicians have developed a composting pad at the landfill to promote personal gardens, flower beds, etc. Community members will have the opportunity to use the composting material at the landfill site for personal use. We ask that you please contact our Waste Diversion Technicians for assistance. If you have any questions or concerns, please talk to Ed or Paul.

Thomas the Flying Squirrel

Joan and (Little Paul) Recollet found Thomas the flying squirrel on their lawn underneath a maple tree. He was a tiny baby who was abandoned by his mother. Joan and Paul fed him for a week and brought him to Animal Rescue in Lively where he has matured and found a mate.

Way to go!
